COUNTY PROFILES of IDAHO

INTRODUCTION

This sixth edition publication provides current statistics about Idaho's 44 counties as compiled from numerous federal and state sources. Each county profile is divided into sections on people, housing, the economy, education and social indicators, natural resources, and agriculture.

County Profiles of Idaho is a versatile reference tool that can assist businesses in market and sales analysis, site location and other planning processes. Government agencies, libraries and individuals can also use this reference book to simplify data searches and shorten research time. The extensive collection of statistics allows the data user to analyze individual county trends or make comparisons among Idaho's 44 counties.

The dynamics of demographic and economic change have had major impacts on local economies in Idaho throughout the 1980's. These changes represent both challenges and opportunities for persons and organizations interested in the future of the state. The Idaho Department of Commerce publishes this report in its capacity as an information clearinghouse for compiling and disseminating reliable data to enhance statewide economic development.

GLOSSARY OF SELECTED TERMS

Rural: Cities of less than 2,500 population and unincorporated areas.

Urban: Cities of 2,500 population or more, and the densely populated suburban areas near Boise City.

Net Migration: The residual difference between net total change of the population estimate since the 1980 Census and the net natural change of births and deaths.

Percent Migration: The total for net migration during the decade divided by the number of persons living in the county at the beginning of the decade. The Census Bureau uses an unpublished and unrounded net migration number to make the calculation.

Birth Rate: Number of live births per 1,000 population.

Fertility Rate: Number of live births per 1,000 women 15-44 years of age.

Travel and Convention Room Tax: Hotels, motels and private campgrounds collect a two percent tax assessed on room and campground rentals. The tax receipts are placed in a dedicated fund for promoting the travel industry in Idaho. Total sales are an indicator of the size and trends of the travel industry in a county.

Government Transfer Payments: Income payments to persons, generally in monetary form, for which they do not render current services. Payments include such items as retirement and disability insurance, medical insurance, welfare benefits, unemployment benefits, veterans benefits, education and training.

Education Funding Levels: Average Daily Attendance (ADA) is a method of measuring student enrollment by dividing total days of student attendance by the number of days the school district was in session. State funds per ADA student are based on revenues and total funds per ADA student are based on expenditures. The 1987-88 school year state average per ADA student was $1,698.02 for state funds and $2,853.01 for all funds.

Land Ownership: Total land ownership is derived from a Bureau of the Census calculation of total land area for the state and individual counties. A correction has been made to Clearwater County's total land area with an increase of 143,053 acres which the Bureau had incorrectly assigned to the water area of the county. The land area of the state, adjusted for the modification in Clearwater County, is 52,886,675 acres. The Idaho Department of Commerce adjusted federal land ownership data based on a careful agency-by-agency analysis. Private land is calculated as a residual of total land minus public land.

Census Bureau population change estimates are rounded to the nearest 100 at the county level, and the nearest 1,000 for the state. Because of this rounding, population and components of change data will usually not add up to the total for the region or state. Percentages for population change and migration are calculated by the Census Bureau using unrounded and unpublished county data.
